

Gulf Islands, Vancouver Island & Sunshine Coast Accommodation

Pet Policy

The guests have been given permission to bring a dog. They have read and have agreed to the terms and conditions below.

Many veterinarians consider British Columbia, Washington State and Oregon, and particularly their coastal areas, the "Flea Capital of the World". Dogs must be on Program, Advantage or other recognized anti-flea medication for at least two weeks prior to the beginning of their stay. Dog owners must accept complete responsibility for the cost of remedying any damage their animal causes, including flea eradication.

Dogs must be kept under control at all times – for their own protection and for that of other animals. Deer are prevalent in the country and are almost tame in some areas which makes them easy prey for dogs. Dogs must be discouraged from chasing any of the farm animals or local wildlife. Sheep are easily frightened and may even die of shock if chased by a dog.

All dogs must be completely housebroken and must be well past the chewing and clawing stages of their lives. Sorry, puppies cannot be accommodated under any circumstances.

Dog owners must remove "used dog food" from landscaped areas immediately. If the dog digs holes, scratches doors or causes any indoor or outdoor damage, repair is the responsibility of the guest(s).

If your dog(s) gets dirty or wet, rinse it down, wipe it off and tether it outside until it is dry. Please bring some towels for this purpose; they are not supplied.

Please bring a travel cage in which to confine your dog or leave the dog(s) in your vehicle when you are not with them; dogs must not be left to roam free inside or outside when their owners are not nearby. Even the best trained animal may become confused, disoriented or frightened of abandonment when it is left alone in a strange place and that can result in completely out of character behaviour.

Please do not allow dogs on the furniture.

If your dog sheds, sweep or vacuum through the house and furniture before you leave, and please make a last-minute check for tracked mud or other "presents".

A barking dog can be very irritating, so please keep your dog quiet both inside and outside so not to disturb neighbors.
